Researchers Meet UP 2022

Studying and Working at Overseas Universities

All ARE WELCOME, and Phd students and Early career researchers are especially welcome

Shin Takahashi PhD
Lecturer, Victoria University of Wellington

The presence of Japan-trained humanities scholars in overseas universities has never been higher.

In this seminar, Dr. Takahashi reflects on his personal story as a case study. This seminar does not answer such questions as whether working at overseas universities is better than at Japanese universities or vice versa. Instead, his argument is that today's global academic environment is more connect-ed than is assumed in Japan. Therefore, the opportunities for Japan-trained humanities academics, including the chances to underta-ke postgrad research, are greater than ever before.

Here, the key challenge is whether YOU want to take this chance. In other words, this seminar invites you to recontextualise not only your academic career but also the meaning of your research in a broader context of the academic world.

8TH DECEMBER 12:30–15:00

12:30–12:45 Introduction by OIC Research Office
12:45–13:00 Welcoming remarks by Yasuko Hassall Kobayashi (A/Prof. GLA, RU)
13:00–14:00 Talk by Shin Takahashi PhD
14:00–14:30 Q & A
14:30–15:00 Networking session

CHRONOTOPOS

5F Building B OIC

PLUS ONLINE (ZOOM)

Registration for Online Participants
https://tinyurl.com/y9y6kyz2

RITSUMEIKAN UNIVERSITY

TOP GLOBAL UNIVERSITY JAPAN

Language : English (Questions available in Japanese) Light refreshments will be served Free to come for just a part of the event.

Facilitated BY Yasuko Hassall Kobayashi (Associate Professor At College of Global Liberal Arts, Ritsumeikan University), Research office at Osaka Ibaraki Campus

INQUIRY Co-Lab. 8F Building A, OIC ☎072-665-2570 ✉oicro@st.ritsumei.ac.jp