

AY 2024 Post-Master's Research Student / Doctoral Research Student Application Guidelines

I. System Outline

1. Post-Master's Research Student / Doctoral Research Student System

The Post-Master's Research Student / Doctoral Research Student System is a system that permits those who completed graduate schools or completed graduate programs without degree to use Ritsumeikan University's facilities in order to continue their research. Post-Master's Research Students and Doctoral Research Students cannot register for classes or receive research instructions from the faculty.

2. Qualification

(1) Application Qualifications for Post-Master's Research Students

In order to become a Post-Master's Research Student, you must fulfill either of the following items i or ii.

- i. Obtained, or are expected to obtain a master's degree at a graduate school of Ritsumeikan University.
- ii. Obtained, or are expected to obtain a professional graduate degree at a graduate school of Ritsumeikan University.

(2) Application Qualifications for Doctoral Research Students

In order to become a Doctoral Research Student, you must fulfill either of the following items i or ii.

- i. Obtained, or are expected to obtain a doctoral degree at a graduate school of Ritsumeikan University.
- ii. Completed program requirements for either a doctoral program, an integrated doctoral degree program or a 4-year doctoral program and withdrew from the university after being enrolled for more than the standard period of study (this is called "Completion of doctoral coursework without degree"), or are expected to withdraw.

*There is a limit to the total number of years applicants can be registered as a Doctoral Research Student. Applicants cannot request to be Doctoral Research Students after reaching the limit. (For those who fulfilled qualifications to become a Doctoral Research Student in or after fall semester AY 2009, the limit is 3 years. For those who fulfilled qualifications to become a Doctoral Research Student in or before the spring semester AY 2009, the basic period is within 3 years and the limit is 5 years.)

Important information regarding the residence status for international students]

This is not a program for Post-Master's Research Students and Doctoral Research Students to acquire the "Student" residence status. Accordingly, applicants who do not have Japanese nationality must submit documents proving that they possess valid residence status in Japan throughout the entire period of their participation in the Post-Master's Research Student/ Doctoral Research Student system.

3. Enrollment Period

The enrollment period is from the beginning of the semester to the end of the semester. If you wish to extend your status as a Post-Master's Research Student or a Doctoral Research Student into the following academic year, you must re-apply for it.

4. The privilege of Post-Master's Research Students / Doctoral Research Students

- (1) Post-Master's Research Students and Doctoral Research Students are able to use the libraries, areas which ICT environment is provided such as Multimedia rooms, and facilities for graduate students* only for the period when their enrollment is permitted.
Please contact the Office of Academic Affairs for details.
* Facilities for graduate students differ depending on the campus or the graduate school.
- (2) Doctoral Research Students can use the common research room (Study Carrels) for graduate students. Post-Master's Students basically cannot use them, but they may be able to use under the conditions which were specified by the relevant graduate school. (Please consult with the graduate students association of each graduate school for details.)
- (3) Post-Master's Research Students and Doctoral Research Students can continue to use their RAINBOW user ID and e-mail address, which they were using while they were enrolled as graduate students.
- (4) Loan conditions of the library for Post-Master's Research Students and Doctoral Research Students are “100 books in 100 days” (The last day of the loan period is the last day of student’s enrollment). For details, please see “Borrowing, Returning” page of the Ritsumeikan University Library website. The library database is also available for use. However, the authorization status to access the database may change. Please contact the library directly to find out whether you can access the particular database or not.
