Welcome to the BBP!

Whether you want to practice your conversation skills, get tips on how to study English more effectively, or chat about topics that interest you, the other teachers and I are always happy to help.

I'm from London in the UK, and you can also ask me about British culture or places you'd like to visit. The food is better than you think - honest!

Learning a new language takes time and effort, but you don't have to do it alone.

BBP is a place where you can try new things, grow more confident in your English skills, and, hopefully, have fun!
