

CHINA'S INFLUENCE AND LOCAL PERCEPTIONS: THE CASE OF PACIFIC ISLANDS

This seminar explores local perceptions of Chinese investment in the Pacific, drawing on research on the Ramu NiCo mining project in Papua New Guinea, and a few other projects in the region. The speakers examine community perspectives on development, environmental concerns, and corporate social responsibility amid intensifying geostrategic competition.

28 October
2026

4:40PM - 6:10 PM

Osaka Ibaraki Campus
B516

zoom <https://ritsumei-ac-jp.zoom.us/j/87308042676>

Inquiry

mh-rep@gst.ritsumei.ac.jp
<https://www.ritsumei.ac.jp/research/aji>

Speakers

Denghua Zhang

Senior Research Fellow
Australian National University

Bernard Yegiora

Lecturer
Divine Word University,
Papua New Guinea

Moderator

Miwa Hirono

Professor
College of Global Liberal Arts
Ritsumeikan University

Presented by Asia-Japan Research Institute, "China's Foreign Policy and Human Development of Vulnerable Populations in Developing Countries" Research Project, and Institute of International Relations and Area Studies Priority Research Project "China's Expanding Influence and the International Order"