

Notices from the editorial board of Journal of Policy Science

On an inappropriate quotation

An article included in vol. 3, issue 3 of Journal of Policy Science has been found to have an inappropriate quotation.

The Policy Science Association has decided to exclude the article from the issue, and intends to send revised copies of the issue as replacements to the organizations to which original copies have been distributed.

The editorial board intends to further improve its editing operations to prevent the recurrence of such an incident.

Copyright statement

Journal of Policy Science and its Japanese version, Seisaku Kagaku, are publications of the Ritsumeikan University Policy Science Association. The copyrights of the articles included in the journals are held by the PSA and the authors of individual articles. All the contents of the journals are protected by copyright law, and reproduction of any part of the contents is prohibited without prior permission. Quotes from the contents of the journals should comply with stipulations of the copyright law.